

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A luminescence device exhibiting a better luminescence efficiency is provided by disposing between a pair of electrodes a luminescence layer comprising a mixture of a liquid crystal compound 5 assuming discotic phase or smectic phase with a phosphorescent compound preferably having a planar molecular skeleton.

10

15

20

25

0904505-071601